AT PISTOL PRACTICE

TOBACCO TALK.

When Weapon Was Accidentally Discharged Shattering Finger.

Clifton Adcock, a little son of Mr. W. E. Adcock, of Church Hill, happened to a very painful accident one day last week. He borrowed a pistol from a playmate, and went to the woods to practice shooting at a mark. After firing several shots at a tree the weapon was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through one of his fingers of his left hand. The bone was shattered and it was at first thought that amputation would be necessary, but the injured member is doing nicely, and while the wound is a very painful one it is not considered dangerous.

BOY KILLED.

Winfield Floyd Crushed To Death in an Oil Washer.

Winfield Floyd, a 14-year-old son of Bob Floyd, was killed in the oil washer of the Cumberland River Estates, at Bear Springs, Tenn., Saturday afternoon. He had been employed as a flint picker and going to work in the main shaft when his coat caught in the wheel, making 125 revolutions a minute. The machine was stopped in a few seconds, but the boy was so badly crushed that he died three hours later. Lannes H. Huggins is superintendent of the plant, which works 125 hands.

QUEEN'S FUNERAL.

Greatest Cortege Ever Seen In The World.

More Ceremonies This Week Before The Body Is Finally Buried.

London, Feb. 2.—All London and thousands from the remotest villages of the kingdom paid their final homage to the queen today in her capital. Deep solemnity filled all hearts. Every one felt, however, that inevitable death had dealt kindly with their sovereign and that her passing had been as happy as her life had been useful. They gathered to honor her memory rather than to mourn her loss. All business ceased, even the drinking houses closed their doors during the day, the newspapers suspended publication and life in London, like the rest of the empire, turned from its customary channels and forced its way upon the three miles of West End Streets where the coffin containing the body passed on its way to Windsor. To an American the ceremonials, with all the atraumatic trappings of royalty, were not more impressive than a funeral of a chief magistrate chosen by the people. Kings and princes beathe silver helmets and wearing gold braided coats were but men, but a king riding after the coffin of the monarch in queen, with other kings and half a hundred of the highest royalties of European dynasties following, and the hereditary quaint attaches of the court, was a sight never to be forgotten.

Popular mourning was less general and obstinacy than it would be seen in the United States. The multitudes were remarkably orderly. The whole ceremonial, including the massing of 30,000 troops and an entertainment of all the visiting personages, showed an admirable organization.

Tonight the king's court is to return to the queen. The day has some of a holiday air. Thousands of persons are parading the streets, viewing the decorations, and the restaurants and saloons are doing a tremendous business.

The hospital cared for 1,300 persons who were injured in the accident. Of this number only six were seriously hurt, including several policemen and soldiers, and a number of women suffering from broken limbs.

Tonight the queen's body lies in Albert chapel, at Windsor, draped in the last rites. The castle is brilliantly lighted. King Edward and Queen Alexandra, Emperor William and the princes and their suite dined magnificently this evening. Three kings and heads of principalities with their special representatives left Windsor this evening after launching at the castle.

At Windsor the only hitch in the elaborate program of the day occurred. It was the utter intractability of the horses attached to the gun carriage bearing the coffin to the gun carriage and a drag of King and emperors, which turned up to ascertain the cause of the delay in the procession leaving Windsor. The horses struggled in the traces and the coffin was almost thrown from the gun carriage. Lord Rootes asked the king if he would substitute for them the jackies who had come up from Portsmouth as a guard of honor. This suggestion was quickly sanctioned and the last time Victoria's body was borne before her subjects it was by her royal "handy men" who at an opportune moment, saved the situation.

The body will lie until Monday in the Albert Memorial chapel.

Injured Arm Still Giving Trouble and Grip Develops.

Mrs. Kate Lander is quite ill at her home on West Nineteenth street. She is suffering from the grip and also from the effects of an injury to her arm, sustained by a fall a month ago. While her condition is not alarming, on account of her age it is feared that her recovery will be very slow.

Esq. Thomas Martin, for several terms a Justice of the Peace for the county, died in the Asylum Sunday morning, aged 72 years. Esq. Martin was one of the best known and most popular citizens of the county and had lived near Shaw's store, in North Christian, nearly all of his life. About six months ago his mind gave way and he was placed in the asylum for treatment. His condition was very poor, with a small death tremor.

He leaves a widow and five children. The remains were interred in the Hamby burying ground near Larkin, yesterday.

BALDHEADED CLUB.

President Prostrated Over Mortality Among The Great.

Probable Visit from Mrs. Nation Causes Excitement And Discussion.

When the hour for calling the Baldheaded Club to order arrived Saturday night, President Bill Cooper was unable to be present.

His physician, Dr. Board, V. S., appeared on behalf of his patient and explained his absence.

Ever since Queen Victoria died ten days ago, the Doctor said, President Cooper has seemed depressed and haunted with a fear that the beginning of the century would be marked by a fearful mortality among distinguished people. Right on the heels of the Queen's death came the announcements in quick succession that President McKinley was afflicted with Bright's disease, that Oom Paul Kruger was very bad off, that Li Hung Chang was rapidly failing and that Count Tolstoi had suffered a relapse that would undoubtedly prove fatal. Every time he heard a piece of news of this kind, about the afflictions of the great, he suffered a physical and mental collapse. On Friday came the news that Field Marshal Count Gourko was dead and this followed by the funeral of Queen Victoria. On Saturday had completely prostrated the distinguished President, and his condition was such that for several days he would not be able to eat more than three square meals a day.

He had therefore taken the liberty to advise the Club of his condition and to prepare the members for any further bad news he might have to bring them concerning his patient.

Vice President Bob Woolridge thereupon assumed the chair and said had nothing going his way.

The application of Major Woolridge, not acted upon at the last meeting, was called up and put to a vote. The opposition to Mr. Woolridge did not manifest itself this time and he was duly elected, with only three or four blackballs against him and these did not attract the attention of the Vice President.

The new member was accordingly brought in and given the several degrees. Some confusion came up when the title of Colonel was conferred upon him. Col. Henry Abernathy said it would sound awkward to call him Colonel Major Woolridge. It was agreed however that the confusion could be obviated by calling him Col. T. M. Woolridge.

Col. Sam Buckner arose and said he noticed in the Fairview Review that the Indians West were on the warpath and as Col. A. Cosby was out there somewhere he had serious fears for his safety.

Vice President Woolridge said Col. Cosby was in no danger of losing his scalp. An Indian would scorn to take a scalp without hair on it. It would be like the play of Hamlet with Ham in left out. Besides Col. Cosby was not a tenderfoot who would stand idly by and see his head peeled. Col. Buckner agreed that on second thought he didn't believe he would.

Col. H. W. Tibbs said he understood Mrs. Nation, the Kansas "runder," had an uncle in Hopkinsville and thought it likely she might be induced to come here on a visit. He therefore moved that a mind reader be employed to determine what Col. Lem McKee, Byron West, Crit Anderson and Charlie Bracke thought of the idea of extending her an invitation to come and bring along her hatchet.

Col. McKee said it was not necessary in his case to employ a

DID HE SEE IT?

That's The Question For The Groundhog to Answer.

Those who watched closely say that about 10 o'clock last Saturday the groundhog had a chance to see his shadow. There was only a brief break in the clouds and soon afterwards it began to rain and the clouds closed in again. It is still a disputed question as to whether or not the groundhog was out in time to see his shadow before noon. It is contended by some that he does not come out until noon. If this be true, he did not see his shadow and winter is over.

The Life of VICTORIA

Personal and Political, Private and Public.

"She nothing common did, or mean,
Upon that memorable scene."

Biography of King Edward VII.

THE biography of Queen Victoria, written in full, could mean the history of the British empire for the last 60 years, and by its ramifications the history of the affairs of the world. The span of her reign has measured progress in material affairs but far more in moral and spiritual. The essence of her childhood, her most noteworthy achievements in every department of science, philosophy and inand could show as little regard for personal predilection as in the business of government, any more.

A Reign of Extremes.

The early years of Victoria's reign were full of interest and excitement. There were the rebellion in Canada, the Anti-Corn league, the chartist agitation, the Jamaica question, the never-ending war with the Boers, the long and costly war with China. Along with these events came the introduction of many great discoveries in science, industry and commerce, which are now considered specially representative of modern civilization.

Her Reign with Sir Robert Peel.

About the only seriousness that Victoria ever had with her various ministries occurred in 1839, when Sir Robert Peel tried to dictate to her in the matter of selecting the ladies of her bed-chamber. Sir Robert was actuated by pure political motives, and in his desire of presenting them to the young queen offended her deeply and she refused to consent to a course which she conceived to be contrary to usage and was repugnant to her feelings. This question led to a return of the whig government to power. There was a great excitement and public hang-up because the fashion to treat the queen as the sovereign of spirit "who would not let her helles be pealed."

Wedded to Prince Albert.

February 10, 1840, Queen Victoria was married to her beloved Prince Albert, born April 26, 1819, who was the son of Saxe-Coburg-Coburg. This was a love match, pure and simple, but the young sovereign, owing to her position, had to conduct the negotiations mainly by herself. During the previous month she had formally notified parliament of her intention to marry her chosen one, and the public could be soon拭目以待 to the interests of my people as well as my own domestic happiness." The announcement was not received with universal satisfaction, but a general reception was accorded Prince Al-industry, and a readjustment of political and commercial relations among the nations of surprising sweep. So congenitally popular was the prince by England and so noteworthy the merits and the influence of the queen that the phrase "Victorian era" has been accepted by the world as a just and ample characterization of the period included in her reign.

KING EDWARD VII.
(Known for Many Years as the Prince of Wales.)

Birth of the Queen.
When Victoria was born at Kensington palace, May 24, 1819, she was considered by no means an important baby as royal children went. Indeed, it was only by tardy courtesy that the duchess of Kent hurried from the south of England in order that her child might be born on British soil, was given apartments in Kensington palace, where the future queen first saw the light. Victoria's father, the duke of Kent, was the fourth son of George III., who was still alive. Her mother was the Princess Victoria, Mary Louise of Saxe-Coburg-Saalfeld, who was the widow of the hereditary prince of Leiningen when she married the English duke. The duke of Kent died a few months after his wife, and the little girl was brought up under the care of her mother and educated under the direction of the duchess of Northumberland.

Accession to the Throne.
She ascended to the throne on the death of William IV., third son of George III., and brother of the crown prince of England and Hanover, which had been born by the same person since the accession of George I., in 1714, were separated, the former devolving upon the young princess and the latter by virtue of the Salic law, falling to the duchess of Cambridge, the late king's younger brother. She was crowned in Westminster abbey June 28, 1838. Some interest was taken in the fact that from the first the queen subscripted herself simply Victoria and not her more explicit self, Alexandrina Victoria. The duke of Kent had given his daughter the name Alexandrina in compliment to the young emperor of Russia, but it was considered very wise on the part of the young sovereign to employ simply the name of Victoria, "around the world." She ascended to the throne on her landing in England several days before the marriage ceremony. It was only a year before the people thoroughly understood her reign. All his actions were closely watched. It was imagined that he would endeavor to overstep his limitations as the consort of the queen and try to influence political affairs. But this feeling was dispelled by his personal qualities. The prince became known as "the good will" of the nation. He died December 14, 1861, the national grief was profound. No man, it was admitted, had ever devoted himself more faithfully to high and difficult duties, and words of commendation were heard on all sides. For many years after his bereavement the queen led a life of strict seclusion. She avoided all public and court ceremonial, though her duties as a sovereign were never neglected.

Gracious with Her People.

It has been a grief to the queen that the last years of her reign should be marked by the death of her son, who has suffered severely, especially displaying their most striking bravery. She wept over the losses of her soldiers in South Africa and shared the grief of those whose families suffered personal loss.

In sympathy no less than in squarely braving through national trials and in national joys, Victoria has been her people's queen.

THE ROYAL FAMILY.

Result of the Union of Victoria and Prince Albert.

From the union of Victoria of England with Albert, Duke of Coburg in 1840 have sprung three children, 40 grandchildren, and 35 great-grandchildren. Death has removed 11 of these—two sons and one daughter, one grandchild and one great-grandchild. Death has brought her majesty nine daughters and sons-in-law. Three of the latter have died, while 13 of the 44 grandsons and granddaughters-in-law survive. Among her grandsons and grandsons-in-law are a reigning czar, an emperor, a king, a prince, a duke, a eldest daughter is empress dowager of Germany, and her descendants will in time wear the crowns of Great Britain, Greece and Roumania.

The nine children of the queen, names and date of birth are:

Princess Victoria, "Princess Royal," now empress dowager of Germany, born

November 21, 1840; married January 22, 1858, Frederick William, then crown prince of Prussia, who died in 1888, as emperor of Germany, leaving a son and a reign of only 90 days. Her son is now emperor, and he has had six sons and one daughter. The empress dowager has had four sons and 15 grandchildren.

Albert Edward, prince of Wales, who now becomes regent, born November 9, 1841; married March 10, 1863, Princess Alexandra of Denmark. He has had three sons and three daughters, and has three grandchildren. His eldest son died in 1884, leaving a son, the Duke of York, married Princess Mary of Teck, who has two children.

Prince Alfred, born April 25, 1843; married 1862 to Prince Frederick of Hesse; died December 14, 1878. She had two sons and five daughters, of whom the Duke of Edinburgh is married to the Queen of Russia. There are six grandchildren in this family.

Prince Alfred, Duke of Edinburgh, failed, England would have to take the empress of Russia, provided the people did not decide otherwise, and 56 years would have to pass before the queen's youngest daughter, Princess Beatrice, would succeed to the throne.

VICTORIAN REIGN.

Exceeded That of Any Other European Sovereign.

Queen Victoria reigned for a greater number of years than any other European sovereign. Her reign lasted 63 years, 7 months, exceeding by over four years the reign of George III., which was the longest English reign before she came to the throne. The longest reign in English history have been: Victoria reigned 63 years, lived 82 years. George III., reigned 59 years, lived 82 years. Henry III., reigned 56 years, died 1267, 63 years, 7 months. Elizabeth reigned 45 years, lived 70 years. She was empress of India for nearly

In the Western Hemisphere,

In the western hemisphere there have been few changes in territorial lines. British title to the northwestern territory has been confirmed and the title of the Hudson's Bay company enlarged.

The development of the Dominion of Canada has, however, been almost equal to the discovery and annexation of a new continent. Finally, in Africa, there has been stupendous progress. 10 years ago Great Britain owned Cape Colony and Natal, and over three other mafuchoads. In these three-score years she has acquired in the southern part of the dark continent the territories of Natal, Basutoland, Bechuanaland, Zululand and finally the vast territory of South Africa owned by the British South Africa company, extending north to Lake Tanganyika.

The recent acquisition of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State gives her absolute control of South Africa.

In the east she has recently taken Zanzibar, and nearly half a million square miles of " hinterland" extending to the Congo state in the heart of Africa and northward to the Egyptian Sudan.

At the west she has secured an imperial domain in the Niger country and in the north she has temporary control over Egypt, of which the end no man can yet discern.

NOTABLE LEGISLATION.

Some of the Most Important Enacted During Victoria's Reign.

During Queen Victoria's reign there were many notable acts of legislation. Several reforms demanded by the chartists, then considered revolutionary in the extreme, were quietly and gradually effected. The corn laws were repealed, and England entered upon her marvelous prosperity under a free trade policy. The Irish church was disestablished, and the odious system of purchase abolished in the army. There was a sensational feature connected with the last-named measure. It was opposed by the house of lords and defeated by a trick.

The title of duke of Cornwall fell upon him at birth, he being the oldest son of the ruler, and he was made prince of Wales and earl of Chester before he had lived a month. The other titles then fell upon the son of the duke, who became the Duke of Rutland, Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, prince of Saxe, earl of Carrick, earl of Dublin, Baron Renfrew and lord of the Isles. On his eighteenth birthday the prince was made a colonel in the army.

During Queen Victoria's reign there were many notable acts of legislation. Several reforms demanded by the chartists, then considered revolutionary in the extreme, were quietly and gradually effected. The corn laws were repealed, and England entered upon her marvelous prosperity under a free trade policy. The Irish church was disestablished, and the odious system of purchase abolished in the army. There was a sensational feature connected with the last-named measure. It was opposed by the house of lords and defeated by a trick.

Announcement.

We are authorized to announce

C. R. Clark,

As a candidate for County Court Clerk, subject to nomination of the Republican party. Primary election February 9, 1901.

Mott Ayers, of the Fulton Leader, will be the Democratic nominee for the Legislature from Fulton and Hickman counties.

Miss Maude Gonine, the "Irish Joan of Arc," is en route to this country to lecture on the oppressions of the Boers and Irish.

The Kentucky judicial bill has passed the Senate and will pass the House this week in its amended form. Deboe will endorse Bradley for judge.

The good old Queen of England has not been buried yet. The great funeral will be held Saturday, and there will be other ceremonies before the final interment. On page 2 are some interesting facts to-day about the late Queen and her successor, King Edward VII.

Field Marshall Count Gourko, of the Russian army, who was one of the Czar's most successful leaders in the Russian-Turkish war of 1877, died last week. He performed the seemingly impossible task of traversing the Balkans in mid-winter.

The circulation of the first issue of Bryan's paper was 75,000. The paper now has a circulation of 60,000, somewhat in excess of that built up by the KENTUCKIAN during the last 22 years. The subscription price is the same as ours.

The Republicans will hold their county primary next Saturday and the present indications are that the gang, with one or two exceptions, will come out ahead. It is against the principles and policy of the Republican party to nominate its best men for office.

An Australian newspaper says that Edward VII has not dropped English blood in his veins. For 500 years back his ancestors on both sides have been Scotch, Scandinavian and German, mostly German. Queen Victoria was 4 parts Scotch, 4 parts Scandinavian and 10 1/2 parts German and the new king's father was pure German.

Mr. W. P. Walton has retired from the position of editor and manager of the Lexington Morning Democrat, which he filled from the first issues. He left the Stanford Inter-ior-Journal to go into daily journalism, but his health could not stand the strain. He made the Democrat a first class paper and left it in a prosperous condition.

After Brief Illness.

Alberta, the little daughter of Mr. A. S. Cox, aged two years, died Saturday morning, after a brief illness, of inflammation of the stomach. Funeral services were held at Mr. Cox's residence, South Campbell street, Sunday afternoon, and the interment took place in Hopewell.

Mr. Holley Brown, of New York City, arrived in the city last Friday night on a brief visit to his father, Judge M. D. Brown. He was enroute to Mexico, California and Arizona, the principal cities of the large piano firm of which he is a member. He left Saturday for New Orleans.

The leaders of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one true disease the science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's catarrh cure is the only genuine known to the medical fraternity. Other than being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional remedy. Hall's catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and so curing it. It is a true constitutional disease, and so curing it, is building up the constitution and assisting nature in its work. The proprietors have so much faith in it that they offer $100 for any case that it fails to cure. Send for testimonials.

F. J. Conner &amp; Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by all druggists.

The family physicians are the best.

Rheumatism

What is the use of telling the rheumatics that he feels as if his joints were being dissolved?

He knows that his sufferings are very much like the tortures of the rack.

What he wants to know is what will permanently cure his disease.

That, according to thousands of (grated) testimonials, is

Hood's Sarsaparilla

It corrects the action of the blood on which the disease depends, strengthens the heart, liver and kidneys, and builds up the whole system. Try Hood's.

STIRRING THEM UP.

Church Members at Lafayette Given a Turning Over.

Lafayette, Ky., Jan. 29, 1901.

EDITOR KENTUCKIAN:—

We are glad to note that our little village is still in line of progress, and her enterprising citizens are endeavoring to keep abreast with the times in improvements and conveniences. In the last three years there has been organized a bank which is doing a good business in a nice building, which has been erected for that purpose. One of the best flour mills in the state of Kentucky has been built, with the latest improvements in the way of machinery, which is running day and night, turning out as fine flour as any mill in the state. A telephone line has been erected, giving us connection with the rest of the world, and other improvements of different kinds have been made, and now we are soon to have a telephone exchange put in here, which will be a great convenience and benefit, especially to the farmers of this vicinity, who will have 'phones put in their homes. But, while we rejoice at these evidences of prosperity and advancement, we are sorry to see a tendency to retrograde in another, and far more important direction.

During these past three years of improvements, one of the three churches of the town has been torn down, with no prospect of its being re-built, although the members thereof are amply able to re-build if they were so disposed, and most of the members of the other two churches seem to have lost all interest in their church or church affairs. And some of these same church members are the public-spirited men who are the leaders in these public enterprises above mentioned. But they do not have time to attend Sunday School or prayer meeting, and very seldom attend preaching. The merchant is kept at the store a little later on Saturday night than usual and he must sleep late Sunday morning and can not get ready for the morning services. The doctor has a little business matter which he wishes to attend on Saturday, so he puts off a call which is not very urgent, and when Sunday morning comes he must go to see his patient, and of course cannot be at Sunday School. And the druggist, well, somebody might get sick you know and need some medicine, so he is bound to keep his drug store open. And the liveryman, Sunday is his most day you know, and he could not leave his stable for some one else to attend to, so it is just out of the question for him to think of going to Sunday School or preaching on Sunday morning. And the farmer, who lives close by, and whose name is on the church register, he works so hard during the week that he is bound to rest on Sunday. And the banker, he's married him a wife and he just can not come. And some of these enterprising church members, who have plenty of time, will not go to church, because some of the boys do not conduct themselves, just according to their ideas of propriety. It frets them so to see the boys act thus that they cannot enjoy the sermon, and so "They All with One Accord Beg to Make Excuses."

We are told that some of these public-spirited church members got a jug of red liquor Christmas, and they, and some of the boys too, caroused nearly all night, drank and made merry. But it was Christmas, and of course it was all-right. But, when a few nights later, some of those boys, in a spirit of fun, piled up a few old boxes or barrels in front of a business house, or fastened an old wagon across some one's frontage, or sang a few comic songs and disturbed some man's slumbers, somebody was ready to raise a howl and cry out "Grand Jury."

It would seem that these enterprising church members expect their children, (as they arrive at the years of accountability) to become Christians, join the church and live model lives. I say, boys, you are just as good as your daddy's, considering the difference in the positions you occupy, but none of us are as good as we ought to be, and while these conditions of religious affairs are greatly to be deplored, we do not mean to say that La Fayette is any worse than other towns of like size. We have just as clever, honorable, refined and hospitable a set of people here as you will find anywhere, and our boys are just as nice, temperate and respectable as anybody's boys, but, fathers and mothers, we all need to wake up to a true sense of our obligations to our town, our children, our church and our God.

C.

The claims of other cough medicines to be just as good as Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest by the following testimonial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employe of Bartlett &amp; Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: I had kept adding to cold and cough in the winter of '97, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help until one day I was in a drug store of Mr. Houlahan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's cough remedy and offered to refund my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and have since always turned to it when I got a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines. For sale by all druggists.

MANY CONVERTS.

The Big Revival Closes At The Methodist Church.

The revival at the Methodist church closed Thursday night, having accomplished much good. There were 25 or 30 conversions and 16 additions to the church membership. Some also joined other churches.

Dr. Briggs preached a series of sermons of great power, fervor and effectiveness.

TWO APPOINTMENTS.

Road Overseers Named by County Judge, Yesterday.

W. D. Turner was yesterday appointed overseer of the Cerieulan road from the Hopkinsville and Princeton road to the Madison road. S. H. McGinnis was named as overseer of the Ducker Mill road from Alex. Fritz's bridge to the Butler road.

Consumption

is destruction of lung by a growing germ, precisely as mouldy cheese's destruction of cheese by a growing germ.

If you kill the germ, you stop the consumption. You can or can't, according to when you begin.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil: take a little at first.

It acts as a food; it is the easiest food. Seems not to be food; makes you hungry; eating is comfortable. You grow strong; you take more; not too much; enough is as much as you like and agrees with you. Satisfy hunger with usual food; whatever you like and agrees with you.

When you are strong again, have recovered your strength--the germs are dead; you have killed them.

Send for free sample, it's agreeable taste will surprise you.

FROZEN TO DEATH

Charles Hicks Found Dead In The Road.

Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 2.—Charles Hicks, of Calhoun, was found dead in the public highway Friday morning two miles from West Louisville.

Hicks had gone from Calhoun to Cardwell in a two-horse surrey with a drummer. He drove back to West Louisville and left there about 6:30 o'clock Thursday night to return to Calhoun. He had been drinking considerably and it is supposed he fell from his wagon and was too drunk to rise, and was frozen to death. His team stopped as soon as Hicks fell from the wagon and stood through the night in a few feet of the body. There were no marks of violence on his body, and the body was frozen stiff.

HOTEL CHAMBERLAIN SOLD.

Was in Hands of Receiver And Brought $300,000.

The Hotel Chamberlain at Old Point Comfort, Va., which was placed in the hands of a receiver a few weeks ago, was sold at public auction Saturday. The property was bought by E. Carnell, who represented a reorganization committee of bondholders, for $300,000. It was sold by order of the Federal Court.

SLATON KILLED.

Madisonville Policeman Perishes In a Street Duel.

Madisonville, Feb. 1.—Policeman C. J. Slaton was shot and killed at 4 o'clock this afternoon by Ora Ferguson, of Morton's Gap, who was drunk and resisting arrest. Ferguson was also fatally shot by the officer, and died about an hour later. Slaton was a fearless and efficient officer, who made himself a terror to evil-doers.

Dr. J. D. Clardy went to Frankfort Saturday to attend the meeting of the Geopol reward commission. Another meeting will be held on the 16th.

Danger of Colds and LaGripe.

The greatest danger from colds, and laGripe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's cough remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of dangerous malady. It will cure a cold or an attack of laGripe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. Sold by all druggists.

SAILED FRIDAY.

Zan Tribble gets off From Frisco With a Shipload of Negroes.

A telegram was received from Mr. A. S. Tribble last week saying he had arrived safely in San Francisco with two carloads of colored laborers and would sail Saturday for Honolulu. He started from here with only twelve, but picked up many recruits on the journey through Mississippi and other Southern states.

I hobbed into Mr. Blackman's drug store one evening, says Wesley Nelson of Hamilton, Ga., and he was asked to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism with which I had suffered for sometime. I told him I had no faith in any medicine as all had failed. He said: Well if Chamberlain's pain balm does not help you, you need not pay for it. I took a bottle of it home and used it according to directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism. Sold by all druggists.

MINSTREL CAR DITCHED

And Three Members of Troupe
Badly Injured.

The private car of the Barlow and Wilson Minstrel Company was ditched near Chattanooga, Tenn.,
and three members of the troupe,
Fred Wilson, Lawrence Barlow and Oscar Puckall, were badly, but not fatally injured. The company's car was attached to a Southern train and some unknown person threw a switch at a remote place, ditching the minstrel car and one sleeper. This troupe, it will be remembered, gave an entertainment at Holland's Opera House a few weeks ago, and both Wilson and Barlow are well known here.
